MESSAGE

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to this new edition of the Swiss Weeks in Singapore! Inspired by the Swiss Week in 2019, the Swiss Weeks 2022 will focus on the key topics of sustainability and innovation. We are proud to be working with a large number of local and Swiss programme-presenting partners, expressing the close connections that Switzerland and Singapore share in the realms of education, innovation and technology.

Sustainability is the foundation for today's leading global framework for international cooperation, the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and its Sustainable Development Goals. According to the frequently quoted 1987 'Our Common Future' report by the World Commission on Environment and Development, 'sustainable development is development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs'.

It means that to build towards a safe world for our children, we need to demand correction in case of a persistent deficit in our behaviour, recognise ourselves as being part of an interdependent whole and behave as such. This is how quality of life is created. By attending our events of the Swiss Weeks 2022, we invite you to reflect on how we can build a more sustainable world together! With this in mind, I hope you enjoy browsing the programme and the many activities ranging from film screenings, arts, exhibitions, talks, workshops to culinary delights.

I would like to thank all our partners wholeheartedly for supporting the Swiss Weeks 2022, without whom we would not be able to realise this ambitious program! Together, we strive for sustainability while strengthening the long-standing friendship between Switzerland and Singapore.

Fabrice Filliez
Ambassador of Switzerland to Singapore

LE CONCOURS SUISSE, A CULTURE OF ARCHITECTURE

16 - 26 MARCH

📍 TB80 Space, 80 Chay Yan St, #01-29, Singapore 160080

Exhibition Opening: 16 March, 6pm - 9pm (By invitation only)

Exhibition Tours: 17 & 24 March, 5pm - 8pm and 19 & 26 March,
10am - 12.30pm

The exhibition “Le Concours Suisse, a culture of architecture” aims to showcase the incredible democratic system created in Switzerland. Bringing the competition closer to the general public, it explains the essence and positive repercussions well beyond the culture of the building.

The practice of architecture and town planning competitions in Switzerland is internationally recognised for its exemplary nature in the awarding of public mandates. This practice is fundamental for the evolution of reflections on architecture, urban planning, the act of building and consequently has a great influence on the quality of Swiss cities and daily lives.

A source of innovation, this form of open and fair competition allows new talents to flourish among the younger generations. It is a remarkable tool for responding concretely to the various environmental, architectural, urban and social challenges of today and tomorrow.

In a world full of challenges, the most powerful tool for sustainability is the engagement of all of us. At Hilti, we want to contribute to a more sustainable way of life – for a world that is less burdened by our impact, for better health and safety in construction, and for a more equitable society. We strive to lead the industry by bringing more sustainable methods of construction and drive health and safety and productivity. We have committed ourselves to being climate neutral by 2023 and make circularity quantifiable and an integral part of how we do business.

At SPS we continuously invest in sustainable business, fully respecting the Environment, Social and Corporate Governance criteria. A high level of employee engagement, focus on e-mobility to reduce carbon output as well as participation in certifications, awards and partnerships demonstrate our focus. With our lean and more and more digital services, we help our clients around the globe to be even more successful in meeting their sustainability goals.

Joerg Vollmer

CEO at Swiss Post Solutions (SPS)

We have committed as a company that, within five years, 50 per cent of all investments are going to be for the energy transition. We have started and have invested well over $500million.

Marco Dunand

Co-founder and CEO at Mercuria Asia Group Holdings

By 2050, the world's population is projected to reach 10 billion people. To cover their basic needs, we will need more food and protein, as well as new forms of energy and transport. As a family-owned company, we think long term, and the sustainable future of the planet for our children and grandchildren influences every decision we take.

Adrien Beauvisage

Head of Region, SEA & Oceania at Bühler Asia

At Partners Group, sustainability means creating lasting positive impact for all our stakeholders. This core principle guides our investment activities, our corporate activities, and our daily interactions with our stakeholders. We will continue our effort and practice as a role model in responsible investing.

André Frei

Chairman of Sustainability, Partners Group AG

Supporting, securing and protecting are key elements of our DNA at Acronis – that speaks directly to us enforcing sustainability as a globally responsible company. For one, our global data center initiative is executed based on the energy consumption practice, aiming to reduce the CO₂ emissions.

It's our responsibility to protect and preserve the planet. As a bank, we have a part to play through the development and use of sustainable products and solutions. In my role as the Sustainability Leader for Asia Pacific, I seek ways to combine the achievement of financial returns with the generation of a positive social and/or environmental impact – whether our clients' primary focus is purpose or profit.

Benjamin Cavalli
Head of Wealth Management Asia Pacific and APAC Sustainability Leader at Credit Suisse AG

As an industry, sustainability extends to how we develop new insurance solutions that give consumers the confidence they need in these uncertain times – closing protection gaps across the region. Collaboration, partnership and knowledge sharing is key, but most importantly, sustainability starts at home. At Swiss Re, one example of how we live this is through our advocacy of emissions reduction first, then removal.

Russell Higginbotham
Regional President & CEO Reinsurance Asia at Swiss Re

TOMORROW'S PLATE: TRADITION - EVOLUTION - TRANSITION

CAN TECH SAVE THE WORLD AND ART HEAL IT?

23 MARCH - 18 APRIL
9AM - 6PM (DAILY EXCEPT TUESDAYS)

📍 Sustainable Singapore Gallery, Marina Barrage
8 Marina Gardens Dr, Singapore 018951

IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE FRANCOPHONIE FESTIVAL 2022

Switzerland is widely known for its picture-postcard scenery, shaped by mountains, clear lakes and rivers, cows and green meadows... Behind this idyllic backdrop lies a country wholly committed to cleantech, which will be showcased through this exhibition, featuring the most beautiful Swiss landscapes and learning how enterprising businesses find innovative solutions to make our lives decidedly more sustainable.

Integrated in the permanent exhibition of the Sustainable Singapore Gallery at Marina Barrage, this exhibition will be enriched with a showcase of three thought-provoking and interactive art pieces that seek to challenge our relationship with our environment. Curated by the techart platform BeFantastic.in, a techart platform which envisions a positive, sustainable future leveraging creative tech, the artworks are a result of the recent international fellowship program “BeFantastic Together”.

EVERY DROP COUNTS: TRANSFORMATIVE INNOVATIONS IN GLOBAL #CLEANTECH WATER SYSTEMS

28 MARCH (MONDAY)
4.30PM - 6.30PM

📍 Courtyard Room, Marina Barrage
8 Marina Gardens Dr, Singapore 018951

IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE FRANCOPHONIE FESTIVAL 2022

To celebrate the opening of the exhibition Can Tech save the World and Art heal it?, let us convene on a panel to talk about one of the most complex and highly-contested topics: Water Security.

Water is a vital resource and has become crucial not only for development and combating poverty but also for peace and political stability. Despite being a renewable resource, it is a limited one. More importantly, it is unevenly distributed geographically.

In the global north, we face problems such as micropollutants in the water table. Although countries like Singapore, Switzerland and Canada have highly effective wastewater treatment plants in place, there are still many challenges to overcome in delivering clean water.

Bringing together local and international experts as well as sustainability advocates, the session will discuss innovative approaches in CleanTech water systems and how we can learn from one another to build a more sustainable and equal world.

3 Lady Hill Road, Singapore 258672

PEARLS OF THE SWISS ALPS

Taste and learn about the characteristics of Swiss grape varieties in our wine tasting masterclass with Isabella Kellenberger from Vin d'Oeuvre.

It is not every day that we find a Swiss-Singaporean woman winemaker sharing a unique perspective to the arts of viticulture. Born to a Swiss father and a Singaporean mother, Isabella Kellenberger decided to become a winemaker on a second-chance education and studied winemaking in Changins, Switzerland. After her successful degree, she trained in wineries in the US, New Zealand and Chile. In 2013, Isabella and her husband Stéphane founded their own winery in Leuk, Switzerland. Their vineyards are situated across the beautiful landscape of mountainous Valais.

SUSTAINABLE BUILDING, DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION

Buildings account for nearly 40% of all energy-related CO₂ emissions. How we construct our buildings, what we build them with, and how we operate them must all be reassessed if we are to lower their impact on the environment.

+ Pavilion is a stunning pop-up installation showcasing innovative and sustainable designs, building materials and solutions. Presented at the Marina Barrage, the physical installation will be open to the public, providing cooling respite from the heat of the day and education source on sustainability. From sourcing of materials, to construction, to operations and repurposing, let's start conversations about circular economy and sustainability for the built environment!
