CITES 1 / 06

Notification
to the Signatory and Acceding States to the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES), concluded in Washington on 3 March 1973

I. Acceptance of the amendments of Bonn and of Gaborone by Colombia

On 22 September 2006, Colombia deposited with the Swiss government an instrument of acceptance of the amendment of article XI of the CITES, adopted at Bonn on 22 June 1979, and of the amendment of article XXI of the CITES, adopted at Gaborone on 30 April 1983

According to article XVII, paragraph 3, of the Convention, the amendment of Bonn will enter into force for Colombia 60 days after the deposit of the instrument of acceptance, i.e. on 21 November 2006.

The amendment of Gaborone has not entered into force yet.

II. Acceptance of the amendment of Gaborone by the Republic of Madagascar

On 9 October 2006, the Republic of Madagascar deposited with the Swiss government an instrument of acceptance of the amendment of article XXI of the CITES, adopted at Gaborone on 30 April 1983.

The amendment of Gaborone has not entered into force yet.

The present notification is addressed to the Governments of the Signatory and Acceding States in conformity with article XXV, paragraph 2, of the CITES.

Berne, 2 November 2006
